ILLUSTRATIVE CASES FROM
FBI LABORATORY FILES

By
John Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
United States Department of Justice

The FBI Laboratory in Washington, D. C., is a national service agency for all American police officers. As such, it is a clearinghouse of information on the use of science in the work of law enforcement. FBI Laboratory case files, therefore, are rather good indicia of the types of problems being handled by law enforcement officers throughout the nation.

The following cases taken from the laboratory files indicate how some of these problems arise and how they are handled. A short time ago a sheriff in the southwestern state of Oklahoma had a case in which murder was suspected. He sent to the FBI Laboratory what appeared to be strands of human hair and the remains of a right hand. FBI Laboratory examiners in collaboration with experts at the Smithsonian Institution concluded that the material was the remains of an Egyptian mummy, inasmuch as the artificial coating on the hand, and cloth fragments clinging to it, were of a kind known to have been used only in the mummification process of the Egyptians.

ENCLOSURE

The mystery was solved when the sheriff, by subsequent inquiries, learned that a former resident of a farm where the human remains had been found had once brought back from Egypt a complete mummy and other relics of antiquity which were stored in the barn loft. Apparently children or vandals had found the mummy and removed parts of it.

In March, 1948, the police in a small Midwestern city investigated a fire which was obviously a case of arson. At the center of the fire they found a test tube filled with liquid and a piece of cedar shingle to which had been tacked some fragments of paper, apparently impregnated with chemicals.

In the FBI Laboratory the fragments of paper were found to be pieces of developed camera film on which the technicians found negative pictures. One picture which they managed to develop rather clearly was that of a tiny kitten sitting in a shoe. This gave the police the clue they needed to solve the arson case. They traced the kitten-in-the-shoe picture to the home of a 15-year-old boy who confessed that he had set an apartment house on fire while trying to make a stink bomb.

One Saturday night about a year ago three men attempted to burglarize a bank in Detroit, Michigan, by tunneling through the wall from an adjacent vacant store building. They entered the store building by making a hole in the roof. A fourth member of the gang served as a lookout. When screaming police sirens going to an accident frightened the burglars away, they left a homemade ladder at the scene of the crime. The next day FBI Agents and local police arrested all four men. The three who had actually entered the store building confessed. The fourth man who had stayed across the street as lookout denied his guilt. The homemade ladder was sent to the FBI Laboratory because the fourth man was in the construction business and FBI Agents suspected that the ladder was his.

Laboratory technicians concluded that the uprights of the ladder were of the same wood species and were otherwise similar to two-by-four's found in the contractor's garage. Two rungs of the ladder matched two small pieces of wood found in his office. Nails from the ladder were similar to nails found on his premises. Laboratory examiners also discovered that tools found in his office bore deposits of asphalt like that on the store roof through which the burglars entered.

FBI Laboratory examiners testified at the contractor's trial and the ladder was introduced as evidence. He was convicted and sentenced to serve 7½ years in a Federal penitentiary.

On August 21, 1947, three men broke into a warehouse in Roanoke, Virginia, and stole a 750-pound safe. While in the building one of the men stepped on a ladder top, leaving scratch marks from the heel of his shoe. This box top was the only valuable piece of evidence found next day when officers searched the scene of the crime. The investigators found three men whom they strongly suspected and obtained from them some old shoes hidden in their homes. These shoes, together with the cakebox top, were sent to the FBI Laboratory.

Technicians making microscopic examinations and photographic enlargements positively proved that a nail in the heel of one of the shoes had made the scratches on the box top. An FBI Laboratory technician testified in state court at the trial of the owner of this particular shoe, and he was convicted on a charge of housebreaking and grand larceny.

One summer night in 1947 police officers in Winchester, Virginia, surprised a burglar in a business office which he had entered by smashing through a window. The burglar escaped when he saw officers approaching. Within an hour or so, about a mile away, other officers arrested a suspect. This person had an alibi for being up and about in the early morning hours. He said he had been slugged and robbed and was trying to make his way home. A doctor's examination revealed no evidence of an assault on the man but did disclose some tiny particles of glass clinging to the hair on his chest. When sent to the FBI Laboratory, these glass particles were found to have the same index of refraction (and other physical characteristics) as the glass in the smashed office windows. When brought into court and confronted with this evidence, the suspect confessed. (III #356)

The FBI Laboratory has long been making glass examinations in connection with hit-and-run and similar cases. Today, however, many of the automobile and truck fixtures formerly made of glass are being made of plastics. A recent case handled by the laboratory revealed that the plastic materials are susceptible of positive identification in very much the same way that glass is. At the scene of a hit-and-run accident occurring in the State of Mississippi early this year officers found fragments of a red plastic reflector and sent them to the FBI Laboratory, together with pieces of a broken reflector found on a suspected truck. FBI technicians were able to prove positively that the fragments found at the scene of the crime had come from that particular truck.

MEMORANDUM

RE: A JUVENILE PROBLEM SOLVED

Raymond F. Latchford, a graduate of the 6th session of the FBI National Academy, is a detective sergeant on the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Police Department. He lives in the Philadelphia suburb of East Oaklawn.

Late one night in the early spring of 1967 Sergeant Latchford came home after a long and grueling tour of duty. Exhausted, he retired to his room, hoping that he would be allowed to sleep the next day. Early in the morning, however, a baseball came crashing through the window of his room. Leaping out of bed, the officer rushed to the window and soundly berated the group of small boys who had been playing ball in the street. They pleaded for their ball but Latchford said he was going to keep it and harshly told them to go somewhere else to play.

Back in bed, however, he could not sleep. One of the youngsters in the group was his own 11-year-old son.

"Where else," he kept thinking to himself, "can they go to play?"

He dressed and went outside to talk to the boys. He asked them why they didn't play in a vacant lot up at the end of the street. They had tried but had found the lot so overgrown with weeds and brush, so littered with rocks and cluttered with refuse that play was impossible there. Sergeant Latchford suggested that they all go up together and look the place over. A dozen eager boys followed him up the street to the vacant lot.

One glance at the lot convinced the officer that the place was indeed impossible as a playground, but he had an idea.

"Will you boys help me if I try to clean this place up?"

A resounding chorus of "you bet" answered him.

Within a week cleaning up the vacant lot had become a community game. Dozens of adults and more than 200 youngsters ranging in age from 7 upward were chopping down brush, moving stones, and hauling away rubbish. Public-spirited newspapers got wind of the project and gave it full support. Civic-minded individuals made donations and the Widgets Athletic Club was born. This name was later changed to a phrase more descriptive of what Sergeant Latchford's project had become: the East Oaklane Recreation Center.

Children are admitted free of charge to full use of the Center's equipment and to full participation in all its activities, without any discrimination whatever being made on the basis of race, creed, age or background.

The continuing efforts of Sergeant Latchford and his host of helpers, both juvenile and adult, together with the generous contributions of public-spirited individuals and organizations, have built the West Oakland Recreation Center into one of the community's finest assets. It has an impressive collection of athletic equipment for tots, adolescents, and adults, and an amazing array of playing fields and recreational devices. Its effect on the community has been to channel the boundless energies of youth into wholesome character-building pursuits.

MEMORANDUM FOR Mr. Nichols

You will note from the attached that the International Criminal Police Commission plans to send to the Bureau each quarter approximately 40 copies of the list of international counterfeit money. While the Bureau has no use for these, it is felt that we should send one copy to the Secret Service and might well distribute the others to the larger police agencies in the country such as the New York Police Department, etc. If approved, this procedure will be followed and they will be sent out with law enforcement bulletins.

MEMORANDUM, JMW: FML, 6/2/48:

The Executive Conference on June 2, 1948, consisting of Messrs. Nelson, Glavin, Quinn Tamm, Harbo, E. A. Tamm, Rosen, Norman McCabe, Ladd, and McGuire unanimously suggested that all 40 copies of the international counterfeit money list be sent direct to the Secret Service and not be distributed with the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin.

The Secretary General of the International Criminal Police Commission, to The Chiefs of the National Offices of the I.C.P.C.,

Subject : List of international counterfeit money on 31st December 1947.

The Executive Committee in their last meeting expressed their opinion that the question of forged money should be watched very closely and that it was necessary to keep the police services of the different countries carefully posted up of these matters. Consequently I have the honour to hand you enclosed two lists summing up the situation until the 31st of December 1947, to wit :

- 1) a list in which the information has been classified according to country and according to the type of counterfeit money of that country.
- 2) a list in which the information has been classified according to country of discovery of the first counterfeit of each type.

The perusal of these lists will show very clearly the importance of the infringements of that nature, particularly of the money of the United States of America, the United Kingdom, and Switzerland.

I have the intention to send you regularly in future, each quarter, similar lists, in which as far as this information will have come to hand, is carefully enumerated :

- a) the different issues of forged bank-notes and coins discovered during the preceding quarter,
- b) the technics employed for each by the forgers,
- c) information in geographical order concerning the different issues.

In order to enable these lists to be drawn up in as complete and rapid a manner as possible. I have the honour to draw your attention to the necessity that all useful information should be furnished to me as soon as a new falsification is discovered in your country.

Le Comité Exécutif a estimé au cours de sa dernière réunion que la question du faux monnayage devait être suivie de très près, et qu'il était nécessaire de tenir les services de police des divers pays soignement au courant de l'état de cette question. En conséquence, j'ai l'honneur de vous faire parvenir, sous ce pli, deux tableaux sur le faux monnayage international, résinant la situation au 31/I2/47, à savoir

- 1^o) un tableau où les renseignements sont classés par pays et par type de monnaie contrefaite de ce pays;
- 2^o) un tableau où les renseignements sont classés par pays de découverte de la première contrefaçon de chaque type.

La lecture de ces tableaux fait ressortir très nettement la gravité des infractions de cette nature, notamment sur la monnaie des U.S.A., du Royaume-Uni, de la Suisse.

Je vous adresserai, désormais, chaque trimestre, des tableaux analogues où seront soigneusement relevés, pour autant que ces renseignements me sont parvenus :

- a) les diverses émissions de fausse monnaie décelées pendant le trimestre précédent,
- b) la technique employée pour chacune d'elles par les falsificateurs,
- c) les renseignements d'ordre géographique concernant les diverses émissions.

Afin de ce permettre d'établir ces tableaux de façon aussi complète et rapide que possible, j'ai l'honneur d'attirer votre attention sur la nécessité de me faire parvenir tous les renseignements utiles, dès qu'une nouvelle falsification aura été décelée dans votre pays.

On June 23, 1948, the Executives Conference, Messrs. E. A. Tamm, Quinn Tamm, Ladd, Parsons, Nichols, Mohr, Glavin, Rosen and Clegg being present, considered the inquiry from the Legal Attache, Mr. Telford, from Paris as to whether he should attend a meeting of the International Criminal Police Commission in Prague, Czechoslovakia in September 1948. He was of the opinion he should attend since new officers are to be elected and the Director is one of the Vice Presidents of the organization; that it is important that Western Democracies be on hand to vote in order to insure an equitable distribution of the offices; because the Commission will consider a recommendation that the Commission not be concerned with political, religious or racial considerations; because of the importance of the USA in world affairs, and so far as is known, no other country has indicated any hesitancy in attending and if the Bureau does not attend, there is a possibility that the Secret Service or other American agencies will be invited.

The Conference was advised that there had been received by the Bureau from Mr. Cimperman in London a letter indicating that this proposed meeting would be behind the iron curtain; that there was a strong possibility of all of those attending being shadowed at all times and the delegates being harassed and even arrested. Because of this fact the Conference unanimously recommended that a Bureau representative not attend and that the State Department be informed that because of the information cited in Cimperman's letter, the Bureau would not make plans to be present unless specifically instructed to the contrary. If this is approved, a communication will be prepared for Mr. Telford and to the State Department accordingly.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

RE: INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL POLICE COMMISSION

Dear Sir:

I am in receipt of the attached letter dated June 3, from M. Ducloux, Secretary General of the International Criminal Police Commission, which he has requested me to forward to you. A translation is also annexed.

In view of the recent events in Czechoslovakia, it is my personal opinion that it is more important than ever before that the western powers, especially the United States, be present and participate in the General Assembly meetings at Prague next September, for the following reasons:

1. The International Criminal Police Commission, being a professional organization concerned only with the cooperative suppression of common law crimes and the apprehension of international criminals, is not concerned with political matters or political ideologies. Although they have always adhered to this policy, there will be proposed at the September General Assembly an amendment to the statutes reiterating that the International Criminal Police Commission is not concerned with political, religious, or racial considerations.

2. At the next General Assembly there will be a re-election of seven vice-presidents (including the Director), and 10 general reporters. It is therefore important that representatives of the western democracies be on hand to vote in order to insure an equitable distribution of these offices.

3. Although I am informed that as far as is known none of the Commission members have indicated their intention of being represented at Prague, the Bureau's decision one way or the other, in view of the importance of the International Commission in the world today, will undoubtedly have a considerable influence in the final decision of the United States who will be present.

4. Following the Bureau's decision to withdraw from the International Criminal Police Commission's radio network, if now we decline to participate in General Assembly meetings in Prague, there is always the possibility that the Commission may decide to invite the Secret Service or some other Federal investigative agency to participate as the U.S. representative of the American police services.

To summarize, I feel that the Commission has an important function in the field of international criminal matters of mutual interest, and deserves our continued support.

Paris - June 3, 1948

Dear Mr. Hoover,

As you know, during the General Assembly of our Commission held at Paris last year, the invitation of the Czechoslovakian delegation to hold our 17th Session at Prague during 1948 was unanimously accepted.

The Czechoslovakian government has recently confirmed their delegation's invitation, and has advised that all necessary preparations are being made to hold our conference in Prague beginning September 6 next.

An official, formal invitation will be extended to you very shortly by diplomatic channels.

In view of the fact that this formality may occasion some delay, it is in the interest of the Secretariat of the I.C.P.C., as well as our hosts, to be advised as soon as possible regarding the composition of each delegation.

Under the circumstances, and in accord with the Czechoslovakian authorities, I have the honor to request you to advise me as soon as possible the names of the delegates who will represent the criminal police of your country to our General Assembly.

Without any intention whatsoever of influencing your decision, in the event it will not be possible for you to attend personally, the one who appears to be the best qualified, is Mr. Telford, your Paris representative, who follows with a great deal of interest all the work of the Commission, and with whom I maintain frequent contacts.

I am convinced, Mr. Hoover, that our assembly meetings will be held at Prague under the best favorable conditions, and will re-affirm the high universal character of our work in the protection of human rights, and that you will make every effort to participate efficaciously as representative of the American police services.

Cher Monsieur HOOVER.

L'année dernière à PARIS, l'Assemblée Générale de notre Commission a adopté à l'unanimité, comme vous le savez, la proposition de la délégation tchécoslovaque tendant à réunir à PRAGUE, dans le courant de l'année 1948, la 17^e Session de la Commission Internationale de Police Criminelle.

Le Gouvernement tchécoslovaque a récemment confirmé son invitation et a fait savoir que toutes dispositions utiles avaient été prises en vue de la Conférence, qui se tiendra le 6 Septembre prochain.

The invitation officielle vous parviendra donc, i'ici peu de temps, par la voie diplomatique.

Cette formalité pouvant toutefois comporter encore certains désavantages, il y aurait intérêt, tant pour les Autorités invitantées que pour le Secrétariat Général de la C.I.P.C. à connaître, dès à présent, la composition de chaque délégation.

Dans ces conditions, et en accord avec les Autorités tchécoslovaques, j'ai l'honneur de vous prier de veiller à bien me faire connaître le nom des personnes évoquées qui se réfugieront la police si elles sont arrêtées dans notre pays. Je vous remercie.

Les meilleures conditions pour l'assassinat de déstabiliser le régime et faire échouer la révolution il ne vous paraît pas possible de voter à l'électoralisation dans cette circonstance, mais je suis d'accord avec lui que nous devons faire tout ce qui est possible pour empêcher l'application de l'ordre d'arrêter tous les hommes qui ont été arrêtés et avec cela, je m'oppose à ces contacts.

Je suis persuadé, Cher Monsieur HOOVER, que notre Assemblée hautement le caractère universel de notre œuvre de protection sociale et que vous ferez, en ce qui vous concerne, tous vos efforts en vue d'une participation efficace de la police Américaine.

Croyez, Cher Monsieur HOOVER, à l'assurance de mes sentiments les meilleurs.

Subject: International Criminal Police Commission

Reference is made to your letter of June 8, 1948 concerning the question as to whether you should attend the meeting of the International Criminal Police Commission in Prague, Czechoslovakia next September.

For your information the Bureau has been advised that this proposed meeting will be behind the Iron Curtain and there is a strong possibility that those attending will be shadowed at all times and possibly even harassed and arrested. Accordingly the Bureau does not desire that you be in attendance at this meeting. It is desired that you inform the Secretary General of the International Criminal Police Commission that the pressure of official business will not make it possible for you or any other representative of the Bureau to be present at this meeting.

Subject : Dispatching of telegrams to "INTERPOL PARIS".

Owing to the fact that the General Secretariat of the I.C.P.C. and the various Headquarters of the French Police (and in particular the National Central Office), are co-existing in PARIS, mistakes have been made because, in the drawing up of the addressee, the same mention "INTERPOL PARIS" was used in all cases.

Therefore, I beg to request you to be so thoughtful, in the future, to add the following additional information to the "INTERPOL PARIS" address :

- "POUR B.C.N." (i.e.: "for National Central Office"), when it seems to you that the case in question only concerns the French police,
- "Pour C.I.P.C." (i.e.: "for I.C.P.C."), in all other instances and especially whenever you want my department to deal more particularly with any specific matter.

The conditions under which the normal mail is to be dispatched, will not be altered.

Objet : Envoi des télégrammes à INTERPOL PARIS.

En raison de l'existence conjointe à PARIS du Secrétaire Général de la C.I.P.C. et des services centraux de la police française (en particulier du B.C.N.) des confusions se sont produites du fait de l'utilisation du seul indicatif "INTERPOL PARIS" dans la rédaction des adresses.

En conséquence, j'ai l'honneur de vous prier de vouloir bien, à l'avenir, faire suivre INTERPOL PARIS de la mention :

- "POUR B.C.N." lorsque l'affaire vous paraître être du strict ressort de la police française,
- "POUR C.I.P.C." dans tous les autres cas, et notamment lorsque vous désirerez qu'une affaire soit traitée plus spécialement par mes services.

Dear Mr. Murphy:

In accordance with a decision made at a meeting of the International Commission of Criminal Police that it would be desirable that subscription for membership be deposited in Swiss francs in a bank in Geneva, Switzerland, it is requested that payment for membership for the Federal Bureau of Investigation from January 1, 1948 through December 31, 1948, be handled through your Department as in the past.

The membership fee for 1948 is $3,000 and it would be appreciated if this amount would be deposited in Swiss francs in a banking account number [REDACTED] in the Credit Lyonnais, Geneva, Switzerland by your consul in Geneva. It is understood that a draft will be drawn against the appropriation of this Bureau for the amount deposited. The appropriation 1590200.008, title - "Salaries and Expenses, Federal Bureau of Investigation, 1949" should be charged.

MEETING OF INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL POLICE COMMISSION
AT PRAGUE, CZECHOSLOVAKIA
SEPTEMBER 6, 1948

As you know, the Federal Bureau of Investigation is the official representative of the U. S. Government in the International Criminal Police Commission which has its headquarters in Paris, France. In that capacity the Federal Bureau of Investigation was invited to send a delegate to the next General Assembly of the Commission which will take place in Prague, Czechoslovakia, on September 6, 1948.

Information has been received by this Bureau to the effect that the delegates to the Assembly in Prague in September of this year might be shadowed and even harassed and arrested. In view of this information and in view of the further tension which exists between Russia and the United States, with particular attention to the recent episode concerning the Russian school teachers, this Bureau has instructed its representative in Paris, France, not to attend the meeting of the Assembly which will be held behind the Iron Curtain in Czechoslovakia.

It has recently come to the attention of this Bureau that Mr. Guy Spaman, Secret Service Agent presently assigned to Paris, has been requested by his headquarters in Washington to attend the General Assembly meeting to be held in Prague. The Secretary General of the International Criminal Police Commission has assured this Bureau's representative in Paris that no invitation, either orally or written, has been extended by the Commission to the Secret Service or any other law enforcement agency in the United States except the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

This Bureau is declining to send a representative to the Prague meeting as it is felt that in light of all the circumstances it would be presenting the Russians with a chance to embarrass this Government, even though a representative of the FBI at such a meeting would be in an official capacity as a member. It is felt that for the Secret Service to send an unofficial representative to such a meeting would be most provocative and the possibility exists that such a gesture would result in embarrassment to this country.

It is my thought that you may wish to call this situation to the attention of the Secretary of the Treasury.

Dear Sir:

There follows a translation of a self-explanatory letter just received from the International Criminal Police Commission:

"Dear Mr. Telford,

Mr. Ladislav Srp, member of the Czechoslovakian delegation of the International Criminal Police Commission and editor-in-chief of "Kriminalistika," official organ of the Czechoslovakian criminal police, has asked Mr. Hoover to write an article for a special edition he intends to publish for distribution along the findings of our General Assembly at Prague.

President Roosevelt has just sent me a message in which Mr. Srp asks him to forward this request to Mr. Hoover.

I would therefore be very grateful if you will be kind enough to call this to Mr. Hoover's attention, asking him if he will be able to comply with Mr. Srp's invitation to contribute a suitable article.

At a meeting of the Executives' Conference on August 10, 1948, attended by Messrs. Glavin, Clegg, Rosen, Harbo, Mohr, Carlson, Tracy, Nichols, Fletcher and Ladd, the attention of the conference was called to the fact that the Executives' Conference on June 28, 1948, had recommended that the Bureau's Legal Attaché in Paris, Horton Telford, be advised that he should not attend the meeting of the International Criminal Police Commission which was to be held in Prague, Czech. in September, 1948, by reason of the fact that it would be behind the Iron Curtain, that all of those in attendance might be shadowed and the delegates might even be harassed and arrested. In accordance with the action of the Conference at that time, Mr. Telford and the State Department were both so advised.

The Conference was advised that a cablegram has now been received from Mr. Telford indicating advice has been received from Mr. Guy Spaman, Secret Service Agent presently assigned to Paris, that his headquarters in Washington have requested him to attend the general assembly meetings of the Commission scheduled to begin September 6 at Prague and further, that Mr. Telford advised that the Secretary General of the ICPC had assured him that no invitation, either oral or written, had been extended by the Commission to the Secret Service or any other law enforcement agency except the FBI to attend these meetings.

The question was raised as to whether in the light of the above the Bureau should reconsider the action and have Telford attend the conference. The Executive Conference was still of the unanimous opinion that the Bureau's representative should not attend the ICPC.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

Re: INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION
ON POLICE COOPERATION

Dear Sir:

I am forwarding to the Bureau herewith copies of the various reports discussed at the General Assembly meetings of the I.C.P.C. held at Prague September 3 - 10, 1948, together with copies of the oral discussions which took place.

The French delegates who attended reported that the Conference was held in a most cordial and friendly atmosphere. The Czech hosts did everything within their power to make the meeting a success. No political discussions whatsoever took place, and no incidents of any kind occurred.

In spite of our advice to the Commission that we would be unable to participate, they nevertheless hoped we might extend even at the last moment, and had a place at the delegates table for our representatives, and had the American flag displayed throughout the meetings.

According to the French delegates, there was no indication of surveillance being conducted on any of the members.

The meetings were held on Wednesday, September 3, to enable the delegates to attend the funeral of Ex-President Denys.

It is interesting to note that in addition to the absence of the American and British delegates, no representatives from such countries as Australia, Poland or Canada.

Dear Mr. Hoover,

Since I propose to publish the enclosed short article in "Echos et Nouvelles" (Echoes and News) of the International Revue, I would be very happy to know if the figures which it contains correspond with the truth on the whole.

Accept my thanks and my most cordial regards, dear Sir, and I remain,

U.S.A.

Confining oneself to the figures on a whole of American statistics it seems that crime which, since 1943, had not ceased to grow in the United States, is starting to decrease since the latter part of 1947.

The number of grave crimes represents, in comparison to that of 1946, a reduction of more than 10%. The number of indictments lodged in 1947 was 28,489 as compared with 31,842 in 1946.

Juvenile delinquency seems to have decreased by 32% - as to the number of crime, 3,516 young people were arrested as compared with 4,683 the preceding year.

The cases of homicide increased from 346 to 352, but as against this thefts with house-breaking decreased by 8% and automobile theft by 10%.

It is still too soon to make a hasty diagnosis of the illness - or convalescence - of a public spirit strongly shaken by war - or to see in this improvement the reflection of police progress - recruitment and equipment. These figures must be taken for what they are: an encouraging symptom.

U.S.A.

A s'en tenir aux chiffres d'ensemble des statistiques américaines, il semble que la criminalité qui, depuis 1943, n'avait cessé de s'accroître aux Etats-Unis, amorcé, depuis la fin de 1947, un mouvement descendant.

Le nombre des délits graves représente, par rapport à celui de 1946, une baisse de plus de 10 %. Le nombre des plaintes déposées en 1947 est de 21.439 contre 31.042 en 1946.

La criminalité juvénile, elle-même, aurait diminué de 32 % - quant au nombre des délits, 3.516 jeunes gens ont été arrêtés, contre 4.683 l'année précédente.

Les cas d'homicides sont passés de 345 à 352, mais en revanche les vols avec effractions ont diminué de 8 % et les vols de voitures de 10 %.

Il est encore trop tôt pour diagnostiquer à coup sûr la guérison - ou la convalescence - d'un esprit public fortement ébranlé par la guerre - ou pour voir dans cette amélioration le reflet d'un progrès policier - quant au recrutement ou quant à l'équipement. Il faut se contenter de prendre ces chiffres pour ce qu'ils sont : un symptôme encourageant.

Dear Mr. Hoover,

A few days ago, I had the opportunity to meet your representative in Paris, Mr. H. R. Telford and I gave him some details of the results of our last General Assembly which was held in Prague, September 6 to 10, 1948.

This International Conference took place under the most favorable conditions and the atmosphere was extremely cordial.

All the delegations applied themselves, during the course of the discussions to remaining strictly on the subject of international criminal police and all the Resolutions were able to be voted on unanimously. I will send you in the near future, the text of the Resolutions adopted during this General Assembly.

The absence of your Representative in our discussions was excused by all with a great deal of understanding and I have the pleasure of advising you that your appointment as Vice-President has been renewed unanimously for a period of two years.

The General Assembly in Prague permitted us to count among the new members of the Commission, the Australian Police and very soon, certainly that of Venezuela.

I hope that in the months to come we will draw closer in the excellent collaboration which has been exercised between us for the past two years. I also hope that we will have the gratification of counting you personally among us at the time of our next General Assembly which will be held during 1949 in Berne, Switzerland.

Having learned from Mr. Telford that you have been stricken with a serious illness, I extend my sincere best wishes for your prompt recovery and I beg you to believe, dear Mr. Hoover, the expressions of my lasting friendship.

Cher Monsieur H. OVER,

Il y a quelques jours, j'ai eu l'occasion de rencontrer votre représentant à PARIS Monsieur H.R. LEIBARD, et je lui ai fait part dans le détail les résultats de notre Assemblée Générale qui s'est tenue à PARIS le 6 au 10 Juillet 1948.

Cette Conférence Internationale, le plus déroulée dans les meilleures conditions d'entraînement a été extrêmement cordiale.

Toutes les réunions se sont accomplies, au cours des discussions, à l'entier honneur le strict terrain de la police criminelle internationale et toutes les résolutions ont pu être votées à l'unanimité. Je vous ferai parvenir prochainement le texte des résolutions adoptées au cours de cette Assemblée Générale.

L'absence à nos débats de votre représentant a été excusée avec beaucoup de compréhension par tous et j'ai le plaisir de vous apprendre que votre mandat de Vice-Président a été renouvelé à l'unanimité pour une période de 2 années.

L'Assemblée Générale de PARIS nous a permis de compter parmi les nouveaux adhérents à la Commission, la Police Australienne et à peu près certainement celle du Venezuela.

J'espere que dans les mois à venir nous passerez encore l'excellente collaboration qui n'est pas rompue entre nous depuis de longs temps. J'espere également que nous pourrons établir l'entente nécessaire pour organiser l'Assemblée Générale de l'Assemblée Générale qui se tiendra dans la capitale française PARIS (France)

Ayant appris par Monsieur H.R. BELFORD que vous aviez été atteint d'une maladie assez grave, je forme des vœux pour votre prompt rétablissement et je vous prie de croire, Cher Monsieur HOOVER, à mes sentiments les plus amicaux.

A letter has been received from the Legal Attaché, Paris, France, which advises that at the recent General Assembly meetings of the International Criminal Police Commission held at Prague in September, a sub-committee on narcotics was created and the Commission is now desirous of inviting the United States Narcotics Bureau to participate in the functions of this committee. The Legal Attaché further reported that the Commission is also desirous of establishing direct liaison and participation of the Secret Service in the committee on counterfeiting. In this connection the Legal Attaché states the Commission has pointed out that although they are perfectly satisfied with the Bureau's services in acting as liaison with the Treasury Department they nevertheless feel that more effective cooperation and results could be obtained by maintaining direct liaison. The Legal Attaché further states that on the other hand they are not desirous of insisting on this relationship if the Bureau has any objections. It was pointed out by the Legal Attaché that the Commission feels that if arrangements could be made for the Treasury Department to participate directly in the activities of the Commission that they might be able to contribute financially to the support of the Commission.

The Bureau has on previous occasions stated its objections to having other Government agencies in the United States represented independently in the International Criminal Police Commission inasmuch as such would undoubtedly create a situation whereby confusion would result and neither the Bureau nor another Government agency would be aware of the extent of this country's work with the ICPC. The Bureau has further stated its position as being willing and able at all times to promptly advise other United States Government agencies of any requests received from any member of the ICPC which requests would fall within the jurisdiction of the other Government agency.

While it is realized that if the activities of the International Criminal Police Commission become more extended and complicated the Bureau will be called upon more and more to act in a liaison capacity, it is felt that such an arrangement is the only solution to counteract confusion which would result from having several Government agencies represented in the Commission. In so far as the financial situation is concerned it is felt that the payments being made by the Bureau are adequate to cover the benefits which this Government is presently receiving from membership in the International Criminal Police Commission.

RECOMMENDATION: It is recommended that the attached letter to the Legal Attaché in Paris be forwarded which instructs him to advise the International Criminal Police Commission that the Bureau is ready and able to act expeditiously in a liaison capacity and that the Bureau does not desire to be a member of the Commission if the Commission's liaison with the United States is to be diversified through several United States law enforcement agencies which would result in confusion and lack of a well-organized program on the part of the United States representative in the Commission.

Reference is made to your letter of October 27, 1948, which advised that the International Criminal Police Commission desired to establish direct liaison with other agencies of the United States Government.

The Secretary General of the International Criminal Police Commission should be advised that the Bureau is ready, willing and able to expeditiously act in a liaison capacity between the Commission and other law enforcement agencies of the United States Government. It is felt that as the activities of the ICPC grow and extend that it will be necessary to have one clearinghouse in the United States for ICPC activities. To have a number of law enforcement agencies in the United States belonging to the Commission would result in confusion as the activities of the Commission become more extended and would prevent any organization in the United States being aware of the extent of cooperation between the United States Government and the International Criminal Police Commission.

This matter should, of course, be handled by you in a discreet manner. It is desired that the Bureau's position in this matter be made known to the Commission at an early date.

Re: INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL POLICE COMMISSION

Dear Sir:

Please refer to my letter to the Bureau dated November 26, 1947, and the Bureau's reply thereto dated December 24, 1947, regarding the Bureau's attitude toward the Commission's desire to offer the Secret Service and Narcotics Bureau of the U. S. Treasury Department participation in the Commission's activities.

At the recent General Assembly meetings of the Commission held at Prague last month, a Subcommittee on Narcotics was created and the Commission is now desirous of inviting the Narcotics Bureau to participate in the functions of this committee. As heretofore reported, they are also desirous of establishing direct liaison and participation of the secret service in their Subcommittee on Counterfeiting. In this connection I have again been approached by the Secretary-General of the Commission requesting that I call this matter to the attention of the Bureau, and solicit its attitude toward inviting the Treasury Department to take part in the Commission's work in their respective fields.

In this connection, the Commission has pointed out that, although they are perfectly satisfied with the Bureau's services in acting as liaison with the Treasury Department, they, nevertheless, feel that more effective cooperation and results could be obtained by maintaining direct liaison. On the other hand, they are not desirous of insisting on this relationship if the Bureau has any objections. Parenthetically, and as reflected by their latest financial report, the French Government is bearing the greater part of the financial burden and they are hopeful that if arrangements could be made for the Treasury Department to participate directly in the activities of the Commission, that they might be able to contribute financially to the support of the Commission.

RECORDED J.D.

It would be appreciated if this request would be considered and the Bureau's decision communicated to this office as soon as possible in order that the Commission might be advised.

TO : THE DIRECTOR
FROM : THE EXECUTIVE CONFERENCE
SUBJECT: INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL P

DATE: November 17, 1948

At the Executive Conference on November 16, 1948, the following being in attendance: Messrs. Ladd, Glavin, Tracy, Harbo, Mohr, Carlson, Nease, Nichols, Clegg, Rosen and Fletcher, advice was furnished that the Secretary General of the International Criminal Police Commission had informed the Bureau Legal Attaché, Paris, France, that at the recent General Assembly meetings of the International Criminal Police Commission held at Prague in September, a subcommittee on narcotics was created and there also exists a committee on counterfeiting. The Secretary General proposed to invite a representative of the United States Narcotics Bureau to participate in the functions of the committee on narcotics and also proposed the participation of a representative of the United States Secret Service on the committee on counterfeiting. It was indicated that if arrangements could be perfected for the Treasury Department to participate in the activities of the Commission they would be asked to contribute financially to the support of the Commission.
It was noted that the Bureau at the present time has the only designated representative of United States investigative agencies as a member of the International Criminal Police Commission and that the Bureau expends the sum of $3,000 per year to maintain this membership; that the Bureau serves as liaison between the Commission and other investigative agencies within the United States. The problem presented related to the desirability of registering objection to the proposals to invite representatives of the Treasury Department to participate in the activities of the Commission.

The members of the Conference, with the exception of Mr. Nease and Mr. Harbo, were of the opinion that the Bureau should in a discreet manner advise the Secretary General of the International Criminal Police Commission that the Bureau in its present capacity is in a position to properly handle the relations of the Commission with the other law enforcement agencies of the United States Government. Mr. Nease and Mr. Harbo were of the opinion that the Bureau should not register any objections to the proposal that a representative of the Narcotics Bureau and the Secret Service be invited to participate in the activities of the Commission.

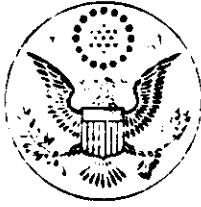

✓ There is attached for your approval a letter addressed to the Legal Attaché, Paris, France, which is in accord with the majority opinion of the Conference.

The 17th General Assembly of the International Criminal Police Commission was held in Prague, Czechoslovakia, September 6 to 10, 1948. A report on captioned subject was presented by Mr. L. Decloux, Secretary General of the International Criminal Police Commission, two photostatic copies of which are attached hereto. You will observe that the I.C.P.C. decided to recommend to the delegates present to inform their respective governments of the report. There was no delegate present from the United States, this Bureau deciding not to send a representative as the convention was held in a Russian satellite nation.

After you have had an opportunity to review the attached report, I would appreciate any comment that you may have thereon as to the practicability and feasibility of the extradition procedure suggested.

THE HUMANITARIAN ROLE OF FINGERPRINTS

By
John Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
United States Department of Justice

Fingerprints daily render invaluable services to the American people. Not only do they frequently furnish clues which lead to the solution of a criminal investigation or the apprehension of a fugitive, but they serve many humanitarian needs. The value of fingerprints in this regard has been dramatically illustrated in thousands of cases.

The Identification Division of the FBI, established in 1924, serves as a national clearinghouse for fingerprints in the United States. Today there are more than 112 million sets of fingerprints in this mammoth collection. Each print has been carefully classified and catalogued and, at a moment's notice, can be located and utilized. The classification system employed by the FBI enables the Identification Division to accommodate an almost limitless number of prints.

More than 80 per cent of the fingerprints, or roughly 18 million, are in the criminal files. These represent approximately seven and one-half million persons. The vast majority, over 80 per cent, are in the FBI's noncriminal files. They represent fingerprints of government employees, members of the Armed Services, applicants for positions in national defense plants during the recent war, and individuals who voluntarily had their fingerprints recorded as a permanent means of identification.

These noncriminal fingerprints frequently unfold stirring tales and vivid drama of everyday life. Incidents of human behavior, involving the deepest emotions of pathos and gladness, merriment and distress, are recorded daily in the FBI's Identification Division.

For example, these fingerprints aid in the location of missing persons, frequently absent from their homes for many years; the identification of amnesia victims; identification of mutilated bodies of servicemen killed in action and unidentifiable by any other means; the determination of the identities of victims, otherwise unidentifiable, of airplane crashes, railroad wrecks, or disasters of fire, explosion, and accident.

A few actual cases from the files of the FBI Identification Division will illustrate the humanitarian role which fingerprints play. In August 4, 1947, the FBI received a letter from a resident of Castle, Washington. The writer stated that she had been totally blind for 30 years and that her husband had died in 1941. She asked assistance in locating a married sister, her only living relative, whom she had not seen for years.

Through the descriptive information submitted, it was possible to locate a record of a woman living in Madison, Wisconsin, believed to be identical with the missing sister. The information was contained on an applicant fingerprint card submitted on October 6, 1943.

The name and address of this individual were furnished to the blind widow. A missing person notice also was placed in the files. However, on October 16, 1947, the following letter was received:

"I am sending this letter of thanks to you for all the wonderful help received from you in locating my sister Mrs. _____. She lives in Madison, Wisconsin. Again I am thanking you for your help." (FBI Notes, 1/20/48)

Recently a mother in Decatur, Alabama, sought help in locating her son from whom she had last heard in September, 1947, at which time he was in Detroit, Michigan. A non-criminal record was located on the individual but no address was listed. A missing person notice was placed in the files.

Shortly after the mother had been advised that the address of her son was not known to the Bureau, a fingerprint card submitted by a railroad company, was received. As a result of the missing person notice in file against the record of the missing man, on receipt of the fingerprints, the FBI was able to give his mother his proper address.

The following letter, written March 13, 1948, was received:

"I wrote a letter to the address you sent me and I get a letter and picture from my son. I was surely glad to hear from him.

"I want to thank you and everyone that helped to find him very much. Your kindness is appreciated very much and I just want you to know that you have done a wonderful job and I thank you very much. Thank you from the bottom of my heart. Thank you."

(FBI Notes, 4/24/48)

In these two cases, as in countless others, finger-prints help mend broken homes, help bring joy to family circles.

A case, typical of many handled by the FBI, concerned an amnesia victim. A well-dressed man carrying a neat, good-looking set of luggage walked into a Decatur, Illinois, restaurant, set the luggage down and quietly collapsed.

Nothing on the unconscious man's person or in his luggage reflected his identity. When he recovered consciousness he was unable to recall who he was or anything about his past.

The amnesia victim's fingerprints, submitted by the sheriff's office, Decatur, Illinois, were received in the FBI's Identification Division on May 19, 1948. An immediate search resulted in the location of three noncriminal finger-print cards which proved to be identical with those of the amnesia victim. One card, received April 18, 1944, reflected an application for work; another, received April 12, 1945, reflected his appointment to a job by the Civil Service Commission; and the third was a U. S. Army print, showing the man had enlisted on September 30, 1946, at Indianapolis, Indiana.

All three cards reflected the same address, place of birth and date of birth -- March 9, 1928 -- as well as the victim's name. (FBI Notes 7/30/48)

Fingerprints likewise play a vital role in identifying victims of the stark tragedies of human life. On June 3, 1948, a truck trailer without license plates was parked off the highway near Rocky Arbor State Park, Juneau County, Wisconsin. It appeared to be abandoned. Curious passers-by inspected the interior of the machine and discovered the body of a woman.

Examination by local authorities indicated that the unidentified deceased apparently had met a violent death. The condition of the body was such that it was difficult to determine age or race, but it was believed the victim was probably a 43-year-old woman missing from Milwaukee, Wisconsin. All efforts at identification through laundry marks, identification cards, and other means, were fruitless.

The sheriff submitted the hands of the deceased to the FBI's Identification Division where they were received on June 10, 1948. Utilizing techniques developed through experience with hundreds of similar cases, the experts processed the hands for legible finger impressions. These were searched in the noncriminal files where they were found to be identical with fingerprints of Hollie Lora Hoffman who had been fingerprinted in connection with employment to defense plants, Chicago, Illinois. At the time of her death she was only 25 years of age.

(FBI Notes, 6/25/48)

Frequently great numbers of individuals, victims of tragic disasters, must be identified. A launch from the U. S. S. Kearsage capsized off Hampton Roads, Virginia, on June 1, 1948, incurring heavy loss of life. The bodies of 30 Navy and Marine Corps personnel were recovered in the ocean, Chesapeake Bay, and other waters in the vicinity of Norfolk, Virginia, from June 1 to June 10.

On June 28 the identification of all bodies recovered was completed by the FBI.

Naval authorities requested the assistance of the FBI on June 7. The bodies were all in an advanced state of deterioration when fingerprinted by a Special Agent of the Norfolk office at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Portsmouth, Virginia.

Positive identification of the 30 seamen was effected by comparison of the fingerprints taken from the drowned victims with the prints of Naval personnel on file in the FBI's Identification Division. (FBI Notes, 10/30/48)

In the recent crash of an airplane in a western state all 50 persons aboard were carried to a common death.

Relatives identified some of the bodies; others were known by personal effects. The remaining ones, charred and mangled beyond recognition, bore no clues to identity save fingerprints.

"Forty prints" (all that were recovered) from the unidentified dead were referred to the FBI for possible identification after all other means were exhausted.

The condition of a few of the hands permitted the taking of legible inked fingerprints. In cases where the outer skin was destroyed, however, it was necessary to excise the inner skin, soften, scrape, straighten, and photograph it between plates of glass with transmitted light in order to procure good ridge detail for comparison.

Twenty of the hands were identified as those of 13 of the victims, including 3 women. All of these individuals were identified through fingerprints placed in the FBI non-criminal files. Five had been fingerprinted as applicants for employment, one as an applicant for a pistol permit, four as Army personnel, two as Navy personnel, and one, only, for the sole purpose of personal identification. (FBI Notes, 12/23/47)

Fingerprints provide, in addition, the means of ascertaining a great deal of information about an individual's past history. Persons who attempt to conceal unsavory backgrounds are frequently detected. Not long ago a woman, executing a questionnaire for a position with a company doing U. S. Government work, asserted that she had no arrest record. A search of her fingerprints through the files of the FBI, however, reflected that she had been arrested. Moreover, she had pleaded guilty in Federal court to a several charge and had been placed on probation for five years. (I.I. 4567)

If consider the case of the fingerprints of a man who was applying for the position of "Guard-Special Officer" which were transmitted by a West Coast police department in January, 1948. A search of the applicant's file was revealing. It reflected that between May 13, 1943, and June 9, 1947, he had been arrested for illegal wearing of the uniform, checks - insufficient funds, and twice on suspicion of burglary. (FBI Notes, 4/24/48)

Fingerprints alone, of all the methods of identification, have proved to be both infallible and feasible. The rapid growth of the Civil Identification File of the FBI demonstrates clearly that the value of fingerprints for purposes other than criminal work is gaining recognition.

A FREE SERVICE

By
John Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation.
United States Department of Justice

Many people think of law enforcement agencies as interested exclusively in the detection and prosecution of crime. However, peace officers daily perform many functions of a noncriminal nature, in the form of a social service to the citizens of the community. Not long ago the FBI was able, through the teamwork of science and investigation, to render a service to a former American soldier. During the Allied invasion and occupation of Germany, a detachment of American troops was bivouacked in the German town of Markt Oberdorf. A soldier mistakenly left behind in a local residence a small pouch containing approximately 3900 Allied Marks (value $390) as well as a number of personal photographs and items of correspondence.

The German owners of the home where the pouch was found reported the matter to American military authorities. Attempts to determine what troops were bivouacked in the house during the period in question were unsuccessful. To make the matter more difficult, the personal letters, photographs, and other items found in the pouch, although revealing much about the owner's background, gave no indication as to his name, Army serial number, or other identifying data.

Military authorities requested the FBI to analyze the items contained in the pouch for the purpose of ascertaining the identity of the owner. The FBI Laboratory closely and minutely examined the material.

Piece by piece, from the photographs and from the correspondence, it appeared the owner probably had come from a small community some place in the northern portion of the United States. Scenes from what appeared to be his home gave indication of great quantities of snow and general inclement weather. Another indication appeared, from an incomplete reference on the back of one of the photographs, that the name of the man's son might be something similar to "Lynn."

All of this data, as well as other circumstances appearing from the letters and photographs were referred to Special Agents in the field who located the owner, a long-time resident of Lynn, New Hampshire. By the time this inquiry was made, he had been discharged from the Army and had again become a civilian.

After appropriate contact with military authorities, the photographs and personal items were returned to their owner and arrangements made for him to reclaim the lost $5000.00 life insurance through correspondence with an insurance representative in

Durham

(I.I. #L-878)

Law enforcement officers are the servants of the people. They are not only alert for the protection of the community against the depredations of the criminal, but stand ready at all times to perform tasks of good will. This is truly the spirit of democracy at work.

Reference is made to the pink memorandum addressed by Mr. Nichols to Mr. Tolson on December 7, recommending that the Director act in a liaison capacity for the ICPC in its liaison with the United Nations.

This matter was discussed by Supervisor Roach with Mr. Mason Drury of the State Department, who advised that the State Department has no objection to Mr. Hoover or a Bureau representative accepting this designation. Mr. Drury requested that the State Department, through liaison channels, be kept advised of appropriate information concerning the activities of the Commission in connection with its liaison with the Division of Social Affairs of the United Nations. This request was predicated on the fact that the State Department receives little or no information on the activities of like organizations doing business with the United Nations.

O Attached is a letter addressed to Honorable F. E. Louwage, President, International Criminal Police Commission, advising him that the Director has accepted instant appointment and has designated ASAC Belmont, of New York, to act for him in this liaison. There is also attached a letter to the New York Field Division advising him in this matter. Copies of this correspondence have been designated for our Legal Attaché in Paris, France.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the attached letters to Honorable F. E. Louwage and to the SAC at New York, advising of the Director's acceptance of referenced liaison, be forwarded. OK DTM

Dear Mr. Vice-President,

By transmitting herewith the letter dated 20th November 1948 from the Assistant General Secretary L. UHLER, of the Department of Social Affairs, you will see that Commission participated at the Conference, held by the U.N.C., for the prevention of crime and treatment of delinquents.

During the meeting which took place in Paris at the "Palais de Chaillot" on 15th and 16th October 1948, it was decided that the Conference would become permanent, that the U.N.C. would stay in close contact with our Commission and even widen those relations with us to involve other problems, like narcotics, juvenile delinquency, false reports, false news, etc.

For these reasons and to comply with the suggestion made by Mr. L. UHLER, it would be advisable and very useful that our Executive Committee and I, as President, have a representative in the U.N.C. to ensure closer and quicker contacts and relations with the United Nations organization.

I would indeed be very grateful to you if you could accept this mission and let me know your decision as soon as possible.

If you accept, it is of course understood that you could send me the text of the instructions required by the U.N.C. so that we could base our report on the documents he possesses and according to the resolutions passed by our Commission.

This would be submitted to our Commission's Executive Committee for adoption prior to the U.N.C. official meeting.

SUBJECT: LETTER FROM INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL POLICE COMMISSION

DATE: February 17, 1949

There are attached two copies of a form letter received in this section from L. Ducloux, Secretary General of the International Criminal Police Commission in Paris, requesting copies of criminal statistics from the various countries together with questionnaires used to compile the information.

For Bureau consideration there is attached a letter transmitting the requested information to the International Criminal Police Commission. It is suggested you might want to clear this letter with the Security Division prior to sending it out.

As an alternative, it may be that the material which I suggest be sent (Crime Reporting Handbook and the last two issues of the Uniform Crime Reports Bulletin) be placed in an envelope without a letter.

to The Heads of the National Central Office

In its Resolution n°13 which you may find in the International Review (n°21, page 26), the General Assembly of the I.C.P.C. decided that all the Member-States should send to the General Secretariat a copy of the criminal police statistics drawn up in their country together with the questionnaires used to draw up the said documents.

In order to enable the specialized Sub-Commission to carry on its work, I should be grateful if you would be good enough to send me the said statistics at your earliest convenience; it would be appreciated if you would also furnish me, if possible, with a french or english translation of such documents.

Dans sa Résolution n° 13, que vous trouverez dans la Revue Internationale n° 21 (page 26), l'Assemblée Générale de la C.I.P.C. a décidé que les Etats adhérents devraient faire parvenir au Secrétariat Général un exemplaire des statistiques de police criminelle établies dans leur pays ainsi que les formulaires employés pour l'établissement de ces statistiques.

Afin de permettre à la sous-Commission spécialisée de poursuivre ses travaux, je vous serais reconnaissant de vouloir bien m'adresser ces documents dans le plus court délai, accompagnés si possible de leur traduction en langue français ou anglaise.
